AFTERNOON DISPATCHES.

General Hurlburt, Minister to Peru, Died on the 25th ult.

The Pueblo Lynchers Still at It—Rain Items—Dick Fellows Makes a Desperate Attempt to Escape.

[Associated press Dispatches.]

Minister Hurlbut Dead.

NEW YORK, April 3.—Gen. Hurlbut, late United States Minister to Peru, died suddenly of disease of the heart, March 25th, at Lima.

Crushed by a Falling Wall.

READING, Pa., April 3.—The wall of the reservoir was blown over upon a shed under which a number of persons sought shelter from the storm. George Shelthorne, Rosa Shelthorne, and John Cruse were killed. Mrs. Shelthorne was probably fatally hurt. Geo. Frill and Chas Shelthorne are seriously injured.

A Fiend Incarnate.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., April 2.—At Kokomo, last night, Chas. G. Franklin entered the house of G. Pritchard, chloroformed the family, and took a three-year old daughter to the outhouse and outraged her. The wretch was arrested. A crowd surrounds the jail and lynching is threatened. The sheriff has called on the Governor for aid. The child will probably die.

More of Judge Lynch's Work.

PUEBLO, Col., April 3.—Three more victims have been hanged by the vigilantes. A passing eye witness says that the victims were being dragged toward a thicket by a number of men. The blood was streaming from their mouths and nostrils.

A Murderous Wretch.

SEWARD, Neb., April 2.—A. C. Patrick shot his wife through the heart last night, and then fired at each of his two sons, slightly wounding one of them. He then made his escape.

PACIFIC COAST.

[Associated Press Dispatches.]

Insane Asylum Burned.

YANKTON, Dak., April 2.—The Territorial insane asylum burned this afternoon. It was a temporary wooden building with fifty-four inmates in the asylum. Of these the following were burned to death: Ossum Iverson, Peter Peterson, Ivan Lynch and Jos. Haverly. The property lost was valued at about $10,000.

Rain at Santa Barbara.

SANTA BARBARA, April 2.—It commenced raining at three o'clock this morning and continued gently throughout the day. Over a quarter of an inch has fallen, making about fifteen inches for the season. At 7:20 P. M. it is still raining.

Showers at San Bernardino.

SAN BERNARDINO, April 3.—A series of splendid showers has been falling since yesterday evening. The farming prospects could not be better. The fruit crop promises to be enormous. Real estate is steadily and rapidly appreciating in value.

Fire at Stockton.

STOCKTON, April 2.—This afternoon fire broke out in Sperry & Co.'s flouring mill, a large four-story building. The fire soon communicated to a large wooden warehouse adjoining the mill, in which was stored an immense quantity of grain and ground feed. Both buildings and their contents were destroyed. Several other buildings, including a residence, were totally destroyed. After a fierce and protracted struggle for mastery, the firemen subdued the flames. The total loss will reach $200,000. Insurance, $80,000. During the fire several men were injured, but none fatally.

General Sherman's Party.

TUCSON, April 3.—General Sherman and party reached Fort Grant on the 1st instant, and left on the 3d for Ft. Thomas, from whence they go to the San Carlos Indian Agency. The General telegraphs to the Mayor of Tucson that it is impossible for him to fix the day of his arrival here, for the reason that he will first visit Huachuca and Tombstone. He states that his object in visiting Arizona is to see the actual condition of affairs, not so much to make any immediate changes, but to be prepared to advise Congress and the War Department hereafter. On his arrival here he will take quarters at a hotel, visit Fort Lowell and see in his own way all the changes since his last visit. He will remain here twenty-four hours and then go to Maricopa and Fort McDowell. He thinks he will know the geography and existing resources of Arizona before he is done. Gen. Willcox and staff accompany him throughout the Territories.

DICK FELLOWS.

The Gentle Stage Robber Makes His Escape but is Recaptured.

SANTA BARBARA, April 2.—Dick Fellows, the famous stage robber, escaped from the county jail this morning about 8 o'clock. Deputy Sheriff Geo. Sherman had occasion to enter the robber's cell, when Fellows knocked him down, took his pistol and left the jail. Sherman's wife witnessed the affair and called loudly for help, but no one happened to be in the vicinity. Fellows started for the mountains back of town. Sheriff Sherman immediately organized a party and started in pursuit. He is armed with a bulldog pistol and not manacled.

FURTHER PARTICULARS.

Dick Fellows sprang upon Deputy Sheriff Sherman from the top of his cell, at the time breakfast was being brought to the prisoners. He then locked the outside door, but failed to withdraw the key. Sherman reached through the grating, unlocked the door and started in pursuit of Fellows, who ran about one block, untied a horse that was grazing by the sidewalk, mounted and rode another block, when the horse bucked him off. Sherman kept in close pursuit all the time, and several citizens joined in the chase. Fellows, finding escape impossible, and being covered by a number of revolvers, surrendered. He was perfectly cool, and ate a hearty breakfast after being returned to his cell. He was sentenced last Thursday to a life term of imprisonment for stage robbery, and will be taken to Folsom to-morrow night. Sherman deserves great credit for the recapture, as he was unarmed and Fellows constantly menaced him with his own pistol.

SAN FRANCISCO NEWS.

Two Gamblers Engage in a Fight and it Ends in a Death.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 2.—Two gamblers, John N. Massey and James Hamblin, between whom existed bad blood, engaged in an altercation last night at the corner of Kearney and Morton streets, during which the former struck the latter a heavy blow on the head with his cane. Hamblin left, but arming himself returned, and meeting Massey, shot him three times, killing him almost instantly. Hamblin was arrested, but refused to make any statement. Massey is an old resident of San Francisco and well known among the sporting fraternity. He has the reputation of having been a sober, peaceable man.

Raining Above.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 3.—Last night and to-day rain has fallen in the northern portion of the State, with snow in the mountains.

Market Report.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 3.—Wheat—$1.57½@1.61½. Barley—feed, $1.42½ bid, $1.50 asked. Oats—$1.65@1.72½. Corn—$1.50@1.57½. Bran—$13.05@13.65. Potatoes—Petalumas, $1.75@1.90. Tomales, $1.75@1.85; Humboldts, $.00@2.05.

The Sonora Railroad.

TUCSON, April 3.—Information from Guaymas is to the effect that there are three vessels unloading railroad ties, and three more expected. The railroad company is now working at both ends, and the road will probably be completed to Calabasas, Arizona, by the 1st of May.

FOREIGN.

[Associated Press Dispatches.]

Collision at Sea.

LONDON, April 3.—The Spanish steamer Yrurac Bat, from Liverpool for Port Rico, came in collision with the mail steamer Dowro, from Brazil, off Cape Finisterre, Spain, Saturday night. Both steamers were sunk. The steamer Hidalgo rescued seventeen persons from the Dowro and six or seven from the Yrurac Bat and landed them at Corunna. Thirty of the crew of the Yrurac Bat, including the captain and pilot, were drowned. Thirty-five of the Dowro's passengers were saved. The number drowned is unknown.

Another Nihilist Shot.

ST. PETERSBURG, April 3.—Sukhanoff, condemned to death at the Nihilist trial, was shot at Cronstadt. His death was instantaneous. Thousands surrounded the spot.

Begging For an Owner.

A boy brought a handsome boquet and a little box addressed "To seat No. 76, east side of the Capitol," to the Senate Chamber at Washington the other day. The seat of Senator Farley, of California, is No. 76, although it is on the west side. The Senator denied all knowledge of the matter, but at the solicitation of the boy opened the box. It was found to contain a nice little flask of whisky, and a note reading; "My darling—Our meeting was so happy." The Senator closed the box and told the page to take "the —— thing away." He knew nothing about it. The boy carried the box into the House of Representatives, and seat No. 76 was found to belong to Congressman Blackburn, who was equally emphatic in his denials. There are few who have such faith in Congressional innocence as not to believe that a Congressman was found willing to give the missive a welcome.—Washington Critic.

The licenses imposed by the State of Nevada upon commercial travellers for soliciting trade are so heavy that drummers have in several instances paid the expenses of Virginia City merchants to Truckee, where they exhibited their samples and took orders, that course being cheaper than paying the license.

A paper at San Luis Obispo says that within the past two months some twelve or fourteen nice milch cows have been stolen in that immediate vicinity, one man alone having lost four or five. They disappear, one at a time, and no trace can be obtained of them, whether stolen or killed for meat, or strayed away. The opinion is expressed, however, that there is a regular organized ring of cow thieves in the neighborhood.

The Santa Ana Herald is indignant at the boast of the Riverside people that their vines are unequaled for quality and quantity of fruit, and says that $500 will be put up by vineyardists of the Santa Ana valley that they can excel, taking five acres as the test, in the amount of grapes produced and in the size and quality of the fruit, any equal amount of vines in bearing in the Riverside settlement. The winners are to have the $500 and the grapes grown upon the five acres.

SELF-MADE MEN

Came Into the World Barefoot and Became Great.

The Man Who Harnessed the Lightning—How Emily Judson Used to Roll Out in the Morning, Etc.

[Virginia Chronicle.]

Franklin used to buy a penny roll and eat it alone. It wasn't long after that unselfish act before he harnessed electricity and had three meals a day. There is only one thing against the otherwise benevolent Benjamin. He is responsible for the horde of telegraph operators whose studied neglect of the English language is the despair of countless editors.

Emily Z. Judson used to roll out of bed at 2 o'clock in the morning with cold feet, and smiles on her lips, and do the washing for the family while they slept. This persistent practice eventually made her a missionary. Some may think the laundry trade preferable to propagating a variegated article of piety among the heathen, but such are scoffers, whose remarks, unlike the lower limbs of the late lamented Daniel Lambert and the present respected David Davis, carry no weight.

Dr. Holland was poor, and a school teacher in early life. Eventually he reached the pinnacle of fame and became an editor.

Captain Eads was barefooted and penniless at the age of nine years, and when he first came into the world. He has since acheived fame by building the big bridge at St. Louis, and some ignominy, from Chicago men, by living at the former city.

J. C. Harlow once set type on the Comstock and later sank to a seat in the State Legislature. He is now a Carson editor.

Lucy Darcon was a factory girl. Now she writes for children's magazines and makes big wages. She is unmarried, and in that respect is not a perfect example for factory and other girls.

K. B. Brown used to write poetry for a living. He is now foreman of a soap factory in Nye county.

Christopher Columbus, whose geographical discovery led to the settlement of the Comstock, and the consequent blessings of assessments, was a poor boy and continued in a poverty-stricken condition until he emigrated. His example might be followed by many with profit.

Dr. Livingstone learned Latin from a book on his loom while at work for $1 a week. This led to the honor of dying in Africa, away from home and friends.

Jewett Adams once herded cattle in Humboldt. He now controls the temporary destinies of the most impoverished State in the Union.

Gambetta was poor and slept in an attic. Gaze at him now—liable to be assassinated by a Socialistic friend any minute.

Jasper Babcock at one time eked out a free-lunch and seven-up existence as President of the Washoe Club. He is now Secretary of State and almost worked to death.

Ella Wheeler used to be a clerk in a Chicago dollar store. She now writes poetry for the Ormsby County Index.

None of those people were idle, or fooled away their time on street corners, or hung around saloons waiting for a Reno man to treat, or played cinch for a dollar a corner, or tackled the tiger, or attended all the dances of the season, or paid a big price for poor cigars, or dabbled in stocks, or wore their summer clothing in a zero season, or tried to swamp a keno game, or skated on rollers, or had any other weakness peculiar to the common herd. They were too busy to troll for trifles. Young man, young woman, profit by those illustrious examples of misplaced energy.

ANAHEIM ITEMS.

[Gazette.]

The box of figs exhibited at the Riverside Citrus Fair by G. R. Hinde, of Anaheim was awarded a premium.

Last year, sheep were assessed by the County Assessor at $1.75 per head. This year they are valued at $1 and $1.25 per head.

The lands in this vicinity are being valued at a higher figure this year by the County Assessor, than they have ever been. Officials claim that the land has been valued much lower in this section than in the vicinity of Los Angeles.

Several carloads of brea have been shipped from Anaheim during the week to San Francisco. The indications are the brea deposits in the canyon of that name near town will soon be utilized, and that a large force of men will find employment in getting it out for shipment.

The Anaheim Hotel is being painted and renovated throughout. When the improvements now in progress in this house and the Planters' are completed, we shall have two hotels second to none as to cleanliness and comfort and accommodations for guests.

Saving Life at Fires.

A correspondent makes the following suggestions, which are deserving of consideration:

At large fires in cities, where the burning building is inhabited, a simple and ready means of escape could be provided by insisting upon each fireman carrying one hundred feet of three-quarter-inch cotton line, with a nine-ounce cricket ball or other suitable weight attached, that a man could throw up and through the window to the persons whose lives were in danger. If to this light line there were attached a heavier one, knotted at suitable distances, and with a wooden bar made fast to the end, to be hauled up, which could be laid across the window inside, a means of escape would be supplied. The heavy rope should be fastened to each end of the bar, forming a loop or bight into which the first step of the person descending it would be made. The remainder of the journey to the ground would be made easily by the assistance of the knots. For women, children and nervous persons it might be necessary to raise and lower a light basket with block and tackle.

The "Citizen" Primer.

This is a Prospect Hole. You can see how Pretty it Looks. The Owner asks One Hundred Thousand Dollars for it. By and by he will Sell it for a Sack of Flour.

Here is an Apache Indian. How Fat and Plump he is. Yesterday was issue day. Next week he will look like a dried Herring. His gun is in pawn for Whisky and he has his Shirt in the wash; therefore he is naked. Poor Indian. How fiercely he Scratches his Head. He is thinking of what Pete Kitchen got in Sonora.

This is a Western City. That is the Mayor with the Red Nose. The Sun and Wind of the West are very Trying. The city is quite small yet, but in the Spring the Tenderfeet will come in from all directions, and go out with their blankets on their backs.

Here is a pair of California Socks. Aren't they funny, you say. Yes, dears, very funny, but some people coming from Mexico will have no other kind.

Soured.

The Deming Headlight has grown desperate, and the milk of human kindness has evidently soured within it. In its issue of a recent date it says:

This is the jumping-off place. There are more beggers here to the square inch than in any town in the country. The charitable Santa Fe railroad carries these people here, and the Southern Pacific, of course, would not carry Jesus Christ unless he paid ten cents per mile in advance; therefore, these good people when broken, fall back on the hospitality of the Deming citizens, who chip in about twice a week to get some broken-down widow woman with fifteen children, or some glass-eyed music teacher out of town We have got a stuffed club, and he who comes around with another paper will be knocked down on the spot.

Wonders of the Telegraph.

The New York Sun prints a neat diagram and description of an invention by Munson, the stenographer, by which any person familiar with a type writer can send dispatches which will print themselves through a typewriter at the other end of the line. A business man in this city can send a message direct to another city by dictating to the operator of his typewriter. The manipulation of the keys of the writer here prints the dispatch through a typewriter in the office of a correspondent in a distant city in the same manner and at the same instant as the printing of the home instrument. It is all done on one wire.

The experiment is to be tried at the State Prison of manufacturing chairs from the second growth of California oak, which, it is believed, will be found preferable to the oak brought from the East. The Chico Record says that vicinity can furnish the State with that kind of timber for the next fifty years.

Captain Dalson, of the engineer corps of surveyors of the Oregon and California Railroad, now in the field, states that the tunnels through the Cow creek and Grave creek mountains will be about 1,900 and 3,300 feet respectively. The longest tunnel is between Grave creek and Jump-off-Jo.

A "Jew-fish," six feet in length, five feet around the body, and weighing 250 pounds, was chased in near shore at Santa Monica the other day, by some seals, and captured. It was provided with eight separate jaws, all set with rather soft teeth, and under its gill-flaps were four gills each. Its eyeballs were about two and a half inches in diameter, and the mouth measured about a foot. Its flesh is white, and somewhat resembles cod, but is superior.

A SUBMERGED CONTINENT.

Ignatius Donnelly has recently published a work in defence of the story that a continent known among the ancients as Atlantis was sunk in the Atlantic Ocean by an earthquake. He is himself a firm believer in the story, and supports his belief in a series of ingenious and skillfully contrived arguments. He attempts to demonstrate the proposition that Atlantis was the home of a populous and mighty nation, from whose overflowings both America and Europe were inhabited and civilized. Egypt he supposes to be the first colony founded, and that the Phœnician alphabet, parent of all the European alphabets, must have been derived from the Atlanteans. When Atlantis perished a few persons escaped in ships and on rafts, carrying to the natives east and west the tidings which have survived in the flood and deluge legends of the different peoples of both continents.

Plato gives an account of Atlantis in his dialogues, in which is shown a reasonable history of a people who built temples, ships and canals; who lived by agriculture and commerce; who in pursuit of trade reached out to all the countries around them.

In the presence of geology, it is not at all difficult to believe in the total submersion of a continent. It is evident that at one time the entire area of Great Britain was submerged to the depth of seventeen hundred feet. What is now Sicily once lay deep beneath the sea, but subsequently rose 3,060 feet above its level. The Desert of Sahara was once under water, and its now burning sands are a deposit of the sea. We have history for an occurrence that easily satisfies the mind as to the possibilities of an earthquake sufficiently extensive to swallow a continent. At Lisbon, the point on the European coast nearest the supposed site of Atlantis, in 1875 an earthquake occurred which in six minutes swallowed up sixty thousand persons. A great concourse of people had assembled on a new wharf built of marble, which suddenly sunk with all upon it, and not one of the dead bodies ever came to the surface. The water at the same spot is now six hundred feet deep.

But we have no need to go abroad for evidence to reasonably substantiate the supposition of the loss of a continent. We have on the Pacific Coast many witnesses to speak of the changes going on between the ocean bottom of hundreds of thousands of years ago and the mountains of to-day. The Indians now living at Caliente Springs on the Colorado desert have a tradition of the time when their forefathers sailed in canoes across the present valley to the mountains on its northerly side. In San Diego county, far inland from the present sea-beach are seen the bones of marine monsters, undoubtedly stranded there when the waters subsided. Hundreds have seen the remarkable beds of oyster shells in San Luis Obispo county, twenty miles inland and several hundred feet above the sea-level. We have in our possession a shell taken from sand-stone in the mountains near Fort Tejon, at an elevation of some three thousand feet. These evidences are conclusive that our hills and valleys were once far below the ocean's surface, and prepare the mind to give credence to a theory that when they arose from the depths, other hills and valleys went down into the vacuum thus created. And these thoughts and facts will give a plausibility to the arguments of Mr. Donnelly, and help to make interesting a perusal of his work.

DEMOCRATIC DISTORTION.

It would be sad times with the average Democratic editor if in conducting his paper he was obliged to stick to the homely truth, instead of distorting history and uttering falsehoods and forgeries. We are reminded to say this by reading in a Tulare County Democratic sheet the following:—"Its [the Republican party's] strongest footholds and largest majorities are found in great money and manufacturing centers where the wealth of the country is aggregated in the hands of a few individuals." We wonder if the astute writer of the above ever heard of Tammany Hall and New York? He must be sadly short in historical and statistical information if he does not know that New York City is the money center of the country, and that there the slums and stews breed the villains and repeaters who dominate at the ballot-box, and threaten destruction to the country at every general election. It must be a very verdant young man who does not remember the New York riots gotten up in aid of the rebellion, and the patriotic and virtuous Sammy Tilden, with his "barl" of money, and whose chief recommendation for a candidate is that he is unscrupulous in using that money as a corruption fund whenever an election cannot be carried without the use of it. Why, the fact is, if the great money center should be disfranchised, and the bullies and repeaters therein be kept at home, the intelligent yeomanry and mechanics of the land would have a walk-over in politics, and the Republican banners would wave forever over the land of the free.

CIRCUMSTANCES ALTER CASES.

This is what the Herald says regarding the enforcement of the Sunday law in Los Angeles:

"In the first place we deprecate all attempts to control people by any other agency than moral suasion."

This is what it says in the same issue regarding the enforcement of the law in Arizona:

"The majesty of the law should be asserted at once and effectively. It is too much to expect that such rank and radical departures from law and order should be tolerated for any great length of time."

THE dispatches this morning are very meagre. There is no news from Washington except the hint Attorney General Brewster gives that the Chinese bill is to be vetoed. The hope that Arthur would sign the bill has come to be forlorn. The ground on which he has based his objection—the twenty year clause—is no ground at all. Our laws are not like those of the Medes and Persians, but may be altered as occasion demands. The twenty years may be reduced at any time if it is demonstrated that the interests of the country demand it. A great wrong will be done the people of the Pacific coast if the presidential signature is withheld.

ASTRONOMY says it requires thirty years for the light of some stars to reach the earth, moving at the rate of 192,000 miles per second. There is one at San Luis Rey that does not take quite so long as vide its issue of April 1st:

"California will be called upon this year to elect one or two congressmen at large. Hon. Geo. F. Baker, of San Jose, is in the field for one of these positions, at the hands of the Republican party."

Baker was a pretty good man and it is more than probable that the Republican party is in full blast up there, but then being such a new comer he would hardly be a candidate this year.

THE country is saved again. If there have been any doubts as to the season since the last great rain they are now dispelled, and the most bountiful crops California has ever known must inevitably result. The fall up to 8:15 last evening was 1.14 inches, and enough has since fallen up to this writing, 3:30 A. M. to bring the record up to 1.50. Every want has been supplied so far as water is concerned, and the end is not yet.

GENERAL FREMONT'S claim to Alcatraz island has been supplemented by a petition from Mrs. Jessie Benton Fremont to the Senate for twelve acres in the north of San Francisco, which she claims was illegally seized during her absence in 1863. If the Fremont family have any more claims let them trot them out.

IT was reported yesterday that Minister Sargent would pass through the city en route to the East this morning on the way to the scene of his labors in the German Empire. The telegraph brings no information as to the correctness of the report.

THE San Diego Sun thinks it would be no more than justice to put the Earp party at the head of the law and order element, and commence a war of extermination upon the thieves and cut-throats. Correct.

THE telegrams this morning say that Jesse James has been killed. Jesse is like a cat; he has been killed a great many times, only to as often enjoy a resurrection.

GENERAL GRANT is at Washington lobbying for the restoration of Fitz John Porter to the army.

A new process of preserving meat has been introduced in England, in which instead of steeping the carcass in an antiseptic, the preservative chemical, boracic acid, is introduced into the live animal, and by the action of the heart is sent through the blood vessels and capillaries into every part of the body. The animal is first stunned, whereupon its left jugular vein is laid bare and the liquid injected, after which it takes about two minutes for it to go through the whole vescular system. Meat treated in this way can be preserved at ordinary summer temperature for five or six weeks.

NOTES.

A dog recently went over Niagara Falls and through the rapids to the whirlpool, where he perished.

There is a bill before the New York Legislature for the purchase of a copy of Webster's quarto dictionary for each school district in the State.

The Chinese authorities, to induce the people to use the telegraph and familiarize them with it, have made the use of new lines free for one month.

In France, parcels not exceeding six and a half pounds in weight, are conveyed throughout the kingdom for 6d, if called for at the station, and 8½d, if delivered.

Charles J. Means of New York has designed and patented a new danger railway signal worked by electricity and the moving train. It is asserted it is infallible.

The Kezanlik valley, in Roumania, is entirely given up to the cultivation of roses. The essence is sold in Paris from $150 to $200 per pound, while it is retailed at $500 or more per pound.

Recently a Russian locomotive on the Polish frontier was found to be a receptacle for smuggled goods. Suspicion being aroused, the engine was taken to pieces and there was found secreted within it 133 pounds of cigars and several parcels of valuable silk.

Wolves are still quite abundant in France. The killing of them is deputed to certain officers known as "lieutenants de loubetarie," and the rewards for killing range from one to three dollars per wolf. It is charged that the wolf-killers fight slow, not desiring to lose their offices, as they would were the varmints exterminated.

The telephone and the electric light are fast working themselves into general use in Austria. In Vienna a telephone exchange has 300 subscribers and 200 more in prospect. The charge for instruments is about $40 per year. The famous Ringstrasse, Vienna, the finest avenue in the city, if not in Europe, is to be lighted by electricity, 130 Brush lights being required.

The Lehigh Valley Railroad has a relief fund from which employes draw when disabled. Each employe who desires contributes one day's work, if not getting more than $2 a day, and the company doubles the amount so raised. When the amount is exhausted a call is issued, and thus the fund is kept up. During the year ended November 10, 1881, $24,994 was raised, and $22,536 65 expended, leaving a balance on hand of $2,403 93.

In a prosecution for adulterating milk the prisoner explained the presence of water in his can by saying the cover was accidentally left off, and "there was a right smart shower" all the morning. The prosecution showed by inflexible calculation that no rain ever heard of since the deluge could have got more than a pint of water into the can in half a day, while the test showed that six quarts had been added.

An old anecdote comes to the front again:

"John," said a deacon, "have you sanded the sugar?"

"Yes, sir."

"Have you put the chalk in the milk?"

"Yes, sir."

"Have you watered the rum?"

"Yes, sir."

"Well, then, come in, its time for prayers."

A colored janitor of Philadelphia, named Joseph H. W. Cathcart has a curious library, which may eventually be useful to historians. For twenty-five years he has assiduously collected in scrapbooks whatever especially struck his fancy in the newspaper press, until now he has one hundred large volumes, which he regards with affectionate pride. Three of these are devoted to "China and Japan." "Incidents in the Life of Jefferson Davis" fill two volumes; "The Freedmen's Bureau" and "Slavery" claim each five volumes. One of the most interesting collections is "Poetry of the Rebellion," which contains about a thousand war songs.

The Isthmus Ship Railway bill, recently favorably reported upon by the Senate Committee on Commerce, provides for a guarantee by the United States, of a dividend of six per cent. per annum, for fifteen years on $50,000,000, in return for which the Railway Company shall transport gratis for ninety-nine years the mails, war vessels, and all other property of the United States, and shall transport American merchant vessels for one-half the rates charged by the company on all other commerce except that of Mexico. It is further provided that for any advances made by our government under its guarantee the company is to give its bonds, payable in fifteen years, without interest, which bonds, in the event of their non-payment at maturity, are to be receivable for tolls on any American vessel, with ten per cent. added to their face value.

NOT SATISFACTORY.

The Salt Lake Tribune declares that the selection of Senator Teller for the Interior Department will not be satisfactory to the non-Mormon residents of Utah. In the Campbell-Cannon contest, Teller has said that in his judgment there was nothing here to call for the interference of the Government; that Governor Murray's refusal to give Cannon a certificate of his election was an outrage, and that if he were President he would cut off his official head without a day's delay.

In a competitive trial between two butchers at Fresno, the other day, one of them killed and dressed a sheep in five minutes and twenty seconds, and a beef in ten minutes and twenty seconds. Another butcher who was present, but not one of the competitors, killed and dressed a sheep in three minutes and twelve seconds.

WASHINGTON, April 3.—Attorney-General Brewster, since the Cabinet meeting adjourned this evening, has said he thinks the President will veto the Chinese Bill. He declines to answer direct questions, but is understood to mean that a veto has been positively determined on.

And Now it Isn't So.

DENVER, April 3.—Advices from Pueblo deny the report that the mob Friday night lynched three men ten miles from town, and say there is no foundation for the report.

Hanlan Beats Boyd.

LONDON, April 3.—Hanlan beat Boyd in the boat race by four lengths, this morning.

Compton.

A liquor saloon was opened at Compton yesterday. The people of that berg were not thirsting for strong drink, to any great extent, and a remonstrance against licensing the saloon received between four and five hundred signatures, nearly every voter in the precinct having signed it. The saloon keeper has declared it to be his intention to close up Sundays, and not to sell to minors. The people of Compton think they can drive out the unwelcome intruder by letting it alone.

Passover.

This ancient Hebrew festival began last evening with the going down of the sun. It is the commemoration of the Israelites of their deliverance from Egyptian bondage. To-day all good Jews eat unleavened bread and bitter herbs, and services will be held in all Synagogues throughout the land. Excepting the day of atonement, it is the most sacred feast.

An Ingenious Answer.

The foreman of the jury which tried a shop-keeper for violating the Sunday law, having reported a disagreement of the panel, was asked by Judge Rix, "Do you disagree on questions of law or questions of fact?" replied, "It's a pretty hard question to answer. Some of the jurors are all right as to the law and facts, but it seems to be a question of interest and principle with them." Subsequently, after the jury had been discharged, a juror being questioned as to the meaning of the riddle gave answer: "I guess it's to their interest not to apply the principle of the law." This brings to mind the speech of "Toodles" in the farce: "It's against my interest to pay principal, and against my principle to pay interest."—San Francisco Call.

A little daughter of Chris Dangberg, of Carson Valley, was choked to death last Friday while eating nuts.

A Decision of Interest to Odd Fellows

A decision has been rendered by a New York judge that will interest members of secret benevolent societies. Action was brought against a lodge of Odd Fellows by one of its members to recover "sick benefits" to which he claimed to be entitled. The plaintiff had joined the lodge years ago when its by-laws provided that in case of sickness every member should receive a specified sum weekly "during his sickness or disability." Another section empowered the lodge to alter or amend the by-laws whenever deemed expedient. After the plaintiff had taken sick and while he was in receipt of the weekly sum allowed him, a by-law was passed reducing the amount of the payments from four dollars to one a week. The Judge decided that the lodge is bound to continue paying the plaintiff the full amount to which he was entitled when he became sick. The right of the lodge to change its by-laws is not denied. But the court decides that whatever sum any member is entitled to when he is taken sick must be treated as a fixed amount, which cannot subsequently be reduced during the continuance of the sickness.

A little girl sent to hunt eggs came back unsuccessful, and complained that "there were lots of hens standing around doing nothing."

The choir was augmented by the presence of Miss Lester of Denver, a splendid soprano soloist, Miss Peachey, and Mr. Barker, of this city. A Winter Home.

Mr. E. J. Post, a prominent business man of Denver and Trinidad, Colorado, who purchased an orange grove here last fall, leaves to-day with his wife for home. Mr. Post's property is in the eastern portion of the city, near Mr. J. E. Hollenbeck's, and the fruit is exceptionally fine. He has shipped a number of boxes to his friends in Colorado. Mr. and Mrs. Post are well pleased with Los Angeles, and they will make this their winter home in the future, and they are now having their purchase improved and fitted up with reference to this fact.

The Wrong One on Top.

Mr. John Osborne, the city bill poster, is out of luck. He accidentally put a new hand bill over an old faded one, and one of those naughty drummer boys came along and saw only part of his bill struggling with its head above water and almost choked for want of breath to blow its horn, and having the tender feeling of his heart so outraged, went and had Osborne arrested on a charge of malicious mischief. Business called the drummer away for a couple of weeks to some other point, and thus ever goes the law's vexatious delay.

The Rain.

For several days the indications of a storm have been very favorable, and on Sunday night the rain began falling, and has kept it up almost ever since. At 2 P. M. yesterday it came down almost in torrents. Up to quarter past 8 o'clock last evening 1.14 inches had fallen, making 10.26 inches for the season; ahead of last year's record.

DICK FELLOWS.

He Keeps the Times Posted in Regard to His Trial.

Conducting His Own Defense—Claims His Trial Was not a Fair One—The Judge Refuses to Hear Him.

SANTA BARBARA, March 29, '82.

EDITOR TIMES: I promised to keep you posted in regard to the trial of Dick Fellows, charged with stage robbery, here.

He had his trial on the 27th inst. and a verdict of guilty was rendered by the jury. The detectives and other representatives of the Express Company were present in force and had with them a great "cloud of witnesses," whose testimony was for the most part irrelevant. The prisoner had caused subpœnas to be issued for important witnesses, who had not been produced in Court, and he had present only one witness, who testified to his previous good character in his native State, where he had a license to practice law before coming to California.

The only witnesses for the prosecution whose testimony was important were detective Burke of Santa Clara county and Geo. Richmond, driver of the stage at the time it was robbed. Detective Burke testified that he found the famous watch, said to have been presented to driver Richmond by the Express Company and taken by the robber, on the defendant's person, but admitted that Fellows had been arrested and searched by other parties before he had been turned over to him (Burke) and that no watch had been found on him by the arresting parties. Driver Richmond's testimony was much stronger than at Fellows' preliminary examination, and he testified that he was satisfied that Fellows was the man who robbed the stage, but when closely pressed by the prisoner, who stood up and confronted him, he refused to say positively that he was the man.

The prisoner had prepared an able and eloquent argument to the jury, during the reading of which, while dwelling upon the difficulty in getting a fair trial where a corporation was concerned, and the unreliability of professional detectives as witnesses when backed by a corporation and a reward in view, he was peremptorily ordered by the Court to desist from reading that part, when he turned to the Judge and exclaimed, "I merely 'hew to the line,' stating facts, and the course of your Honor corroborates precisely what I am trying to demstrate." He then threw the manuscript onto a chair, and after a few further remarks to the jury submitted the case under protest. The Court afterwards undertook to dictate what parts he might read, which the prisoner urged would break the force of his argument. One of the objections offered by the Court to the reading of the argument, was that it was too long; he saying that there were a hundred pages of it. To which the prisoner replied that there were only forty-nine pages of it, and that he could read it all in less than one hour, and that if it was his Honor's life that was at stake it would not appear so long. After the interruption, which was at first peremptory, the prisoner merely referred to what he had hoped to show by his argument, and after thanking the jury for their attention, took his seat. There were more than a hundred spectators besides the jury, ladies and gentlemen, who witnessed the occurrence and heard the part of the manuscript read up to the time of the interruption, and concur that there was nothing unusual or inappropriate in the prisoner's manner or language. The facts were stern, but he was, as he said, merely "hewing to the line—letting the chips fall where they would." It is understood he will have the whole of his speech or manuscript printed to submit to the Supreme Court, to which he will appeal for a new trial on the grounds of being improperly convicted. He also took exceptions to the Judge's charge to the jury. The Court had refused to defer his trial until his attorney, Mr. V. H. Metcalf, of Oakland, could be present, and he declined to have another appointed on the ground that he would not have time to prepare his defence, and that there was no other with whom he was acquainted, and he was without means to employ another. He will be sentenced to-morrow, when I will close my letter.

Fellows was sentenced this morning, the 30th instant, to imprisonment for the term of his natural life at the Folsom Branch Prison. When asked if he had any legal reason to offer why sentence should not be pronounced upon him, he said that he had, on the ground that he was improperly convicted. He will be taken to Folsom on the next steamer, Monday, April 3d, his future home.

JUSTICIA.

DE LESSEP'S CANAL.

What a New Yorker saw on the Isthmus in February.

Mr. P. Fitzgerald, of New York, who is stopping at the Cosmopolitan Hotel, gave a TIMES reporter some idea of what was going on about De Lessep's Isthmus Canal. Mr. Fitzgerald came to California the old Panama route, the one so famous in Argonautic times, but now almost neglected, since railroading has become the fashionable way of traveling. Large numbers of Frenchmen were there at work, both as overseers and laborers. The Panama fever had not of late carried off very many workmen. A large force of natives were also at work. The line had been surveyed clear across the Isthmus, a distance of forty odd miles. Large quantities of machinery were lying at the different stations along the railroad, ready for use in constructing the canal. Everything indicated activity, and it can not be very long at this rate before ships will be crossing from one ocean to the other. De Lesseps has evidently procured all the means he wants for this gigantic enterprise. This is Mr. Fitzgerald's first visit to California, and he likes it very well. He spent last week at Sierra Madrevilla, and goes to-day to visit Riverside, and thence to Denver.

Santa Ana Items.

Santa Ana has just had a beautiful rain. The good done to the growing crops can hardly be imagined.

H. B. Dibble and wife are rejoicing in the birth of a daughter, the event occurring Monday, April 3d.

Mr. Grouard is making preparations to start another brick-yard in Santa Ana. Most of his tools are ready, and he expects to have a large kiln burnt within a few weeks. Such has been the demand for bricks here, that another yard was a necessity, though J. L. Garnsey has been turning out all a large force could do, and good bricks, too.

Dr. Bailey has been appointed medical examiner of the Equitable Life Insurance Company, and says that L. P. Waller, the State agent, here at present, is working up more cases than he ever dreamed possible in this town. It shows that times must be pretty good and money not scarce.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Prof. J. M. Redway will deliver a lecture at Anaheim in about two weeks on the "End of the World." Mr. Redway is making quite a reputation as a scientific lecturer and is in great demand. On Monday of last week he lectured at Newhall, on Tuesday evening at Rosedale, and Wednesday in this city.

Singular Testimony.

One thing very singular in the Medina and Berlardes trials yesterday, before Judge Sepulveda, was the agreement of the testimony of each side among themselves and the disagreement toward each other's party. All the witnesses for the prosecution swore to one straight story, and no amount of cross-examination could cause any contradiction. The same was so of the witnesses for the defence. But the only two points they agreed on in their respective testimony was as to the time and place of the fracas. They even differed as to the participants, and yet from all this conglomeration of evidence enough was evolved by the jury to find a verdict. The case was one of assault that occurred in Soledad canyon last February of the defendant, Desidero Berlardes, upon Anton Mallachowitz.

Its Origin and the Objects Sought to be Accomplished.

The Officers and Committees of the Los Angeles Association—What It is Doing in this City.

In view of the work this organization is doing in our midst, this community will doubtless be interested in knowing somewhat of its aims and objects. About thirty-five years ago in London was organized the first of what is now known as the Young Men's Christian Association. Their action was quickly followed by America, both in the United States and Canada, and the Associations have so multiplied that scarcely a city or town within their boundaries but now have them. On the 7th of last month, Los Angeles wheeled into line by organizing an Association, and the work it has accomplished commends itself to the most critical.

The aim of these organizations is to develop the spiritual, mental, moral and physical condition of its members, and by them to impart comfort and assistance to strangers and others requiring it. Its creed is the creed of the Good Samaritan who sees in everyone in need, a brother and friend.

Its active membership is composed of young men in good standing in any of the Evangelical churches; young men of moral character but not members of any church are elected to associate membership, which gives them the same privileges as the active, with but one or two exceptions. Ladies are invited to become auxiliary members. None are restricted by reason of age. The following is a list of the OFFICERS.

President, S. I. Merrill; First Vice President, Judge Edwin Baxter; Second Vice President, Dr. F. A. Seymour; Recording Secretary, H. M. Cain; Corresponding Secretary, J. T. Richardson; Treasurer, J. Haskell; Auditor, T. S. Hamilton; Librarian, Paul Krug.

COMMITTEES.

Devotional—Dr. F. A. Seymour, L. M. Babcock, H. M. Cain.

Visiting and Relief—C. H. Barker, Stearin and Voigt.

Reception—F. M. Coulter, C. H. Barker and A. McDonald.

Employment—D. E. Miles and L. E. Gary.

Library and Rooms—J. H. Haskell, P. Warner, E. Baxter, A. W. Hall.

Lectures and Entertainment—T. W. LaFetra, J. T. Richardson and A. W. Hall.

Publications—J. H. Blanchard, Wm. Miles and E. A. Edwards.

Boarding Houses—A. A. Curtis.

The Association since its organization in this city has had its hands full of benevolent work. The officers had scarcely been elected when word was brought that a young man at the U. S. Hotel by the name of Hadsell, was very low with consumption; was far away from home and friends and in a helpless condition. The members immediately took charge of the case, watched with him and ministered to his wants until death relieved the sufferer. Another case, also that of a stranger, a man by the name of Brown, came under the notice of the Association and they attended him until the charge was removed by death.

A few days since a man named Reily, a stranger in the city, was reported as having suffered a stroke of paralysis. The man was destitute, and had a wife and three children depending upon him. The Association took charge of him, procured a lodging place for the man and also provided for the family. The man died on Sunday and now the wife it is thought, can hardly survive, being very sick. She and the little ones are dependent on the charities of the public. A committee has been appointed by the Association to solicit funds for her relief, consisting of Mr. C. H. Barker and A. W. Hall, and it is hoped a generous response will be made to their solicitations. The Association is a most worthy one, and there is a great field here for the employment of all its members.

An Enterprising Firm.

Sharp, Bloeser & Ullman are watching with interest every brick laid on the new building opposite, which they expect to occupy shortly. Their business has attained such vast proportions as to render their present quarters entirely inadequate for its convenient handling. They propose to have as fine a carpet and furniture emporium as any south of San Francisco. A large consignment of eastern furniture will shortly arrive direct from the manufacturers, and they will shortly receive importations of the newest and best designs in parlor frames, patent rockers and a vast number of other styles in parlor furniture of elegant design and superb appearance, the arrival of which will be duly announced.

His Opinion—and Ours.

Mr. A. T. Currier, of Spadra, was in town yesterday. He says this rain settles the question, and Los Angeles will turn out a heavier crop than ever before. His opinion is that of a practical and experienced farmer, and we pin our faith upon it. And we are just egotistical enough to remind our readers to our prophesy of January 11th, that notwithstanding the unfavorable start in of the season, the rains would come and we would revel in abundance and plenty.

JOSE M. ENCINO.

The San Gabriel Murderer is Examined and Held to Answer.

Yesterday Constable Stamps, of San Gabriel, took Encino out to the old Mission, where he was examined before Justice Hereford, for the murder of Ortega, and committed to the county jail to await trial. The evidence was not different from that already published in the TIMES. The parties were heated with liquor, and revived an old quarrel about their women, when the shootign took place, resulting in Ortega's death.

Weather Report.

Observations taken by the U. S. Army Signal Service at 8:15 o'clock last night are as follows: Barometer, 30.06; thermometer, 51; dew poi t, 49; wind, W; 8 miles per hour, 6; cloudy. Maximum thermometer, 54; minimum, 49; Rainfall 1.14.

E. Tipton, H. T. Finney, J. Stewart, L. Starbuck, A. Rorick, J. G. Newell, J. O. Lamb, O. F. Kimble, S. W. LaDow and G. Gephard. SETTINGS.

The Hulse murder trial comes up to-morrow before Judge Spulveda.

A Progressive Institution.

A visit to S. W. Luitweiler's mammoth wagon and carriage emporium will furnish as tangible evidence of the vast amount of business transacted by the prominent firms of Los Angeles as could be desired. The vast building is filled to overflowing with the various kinds of wagons, carriages, etc., manufactured by the Studebaker and Cortland companies. He receives large consignments at a time, thus saving considerable in freight charges. He has just received a car load of the Studebaker spring wagons, principally four-spring and side-spring, guaranteed to be unsurpassed in quality of material and workmanship. He has in stock also a large supply of heavy express wagons on platform springs. The farm wagons recently received are greatly improved, and much superior to any others offered in this market. Mr. Luitweiler carries the largest stock of any house in Southern California and has achieved deserved success and popularity by honorable and energetic efforts.

Police Pickings.

P. Kewle, an old offender, was sentenced yesterday to the chain gang for nine days. Drunk as usual.

Andronico Tapia got so jolly Sunday night he did not know what to do, and so gave vent to his feelings by firing off a pistol down by the plaza. His trial is set for to-morrow at 10 A. M.

Gumacindo Kumaco, for being drunk and disorderly, received a sentence of nine days in the chain gang.

The case of Cuddy and others, charged with false imprisonment, is set for a week from to-day before Judge Adams.

The case of Cuddy and others, charged with assault to murder under color of authority, is set for next Tuesday at 10 A. M., before Judge Adams.

Disappointed Reporter.

EDITOR TIMES:—A purported report appeared in last evening's Express of a "disappointed congregation." I wish to correct the report in one or two particulars. In the first place the congregation was not "larger than usual" but considerably less, owing, I presume, to the appearance of rain. For some time past chairs have been brought in, necessarily, Sunday evening, to accommodate the audience. In the second place the congregation could not have been disappointed, as the pastor announced his subject for evening in the morning and the previous Sunday as well—so I conclude the case was a disappointed reporter.

The barkentine Kitty Flickinger, Captain Young, cleared Saturday afternoon for Port Townsend, Washington Territory.

A new disease is reported to have broken out among the apiaries in a certain section of San Diego county. The trouble is not general, and now that bee men are on their guard it is not likely to make any great headway. The impression is still in favor of a good yield this coming season. We quote: Comb, 14c to 18c; extracted 6@8c for dark and 9@10c P lb for white.

Business, as defined in a new dictionary, is: Setting a trap to catch the goods or money of your fellowman.

Fire at Anaheim.

Mr. J. K. Truffrees, the real estate agent at Anaheim, sustained a severe loss in the burning of his house Saturday night. It is supposed to have caught in the rear part of the house, up-stairs. The citizens turned out promptly, and saved most of the furniture, but the the building was totally destroyed. The alarm bell was not in condition to be used, and consequently the fire company was not apprised of the fire in time to render material aid. The house was the finest in Anaheim, and cost about $7,000. The loss in furniture, etc., is estimated at about $1,000. The grounds about the house were also very fine, and the damage to choice trees, shrubbery, hedges and fence is considerable. The barn, which at one time was thought doomed, was saved by the efforts of the citizens, who worked like heroes.

THE SPECTROSCOPE.

An Ingenious Method of Analyzing Drinking Water.

Some time ago there was a suspicion that the water of a certain well was contaminated by the escape from a cesspool near by. An ordinary analysis, although showing the presence of organic matter, failed to prove that it came from the cesspool. The question was investigated by a gentleman of this city in the following manner: He treated the water for lithium before the spectroscope, but found none. He then threw an ounce of chloride of lithium into the cesspool, and in a day or two again treated the well water before the spectroscope. This time the spectroscope revealed unmistakable signs of lithium, thus proving the cesspool to have been the source of contamination.

A couple aged respectively nineteen and fourteen years, were married in Red Bluffs on Tuesday.

The milling season will soon start up in Truckee, and preparations are made for an unprecedented amount of business.

It has been decided to use the present depot at Colton for both the California Southern and the Southern Pacific roads for the time being.

The whalers at St. Simeon have taken only eight whales this season, which is now about expired. The average catch is from fifteen to twenty.

Our exchanges from the mountain regions tell many thrilling stories of hardship, suffering, and in some cases, death, by the recent terrific snowstorms.

The people of San Diego are becoming worried over the prevalence of scarlet fever and diptheria in that city, and the ladies held a meeting to discuss the subject.

The Mirror says the wool clip of San Luis Obispo county will not be so heavy this season as last, owing to the scarcity of feed and fatality attending sheep the past year.

Nathan Barbour, a pioneer of Solano county, who came to California in 1846, died at his home in Suisun valley on the 27th ult. He had resided in Solano county since 1846.

The most recent victim of the attempt to pull a loaded gun through a fence, muzzle first, is a Frenchman of Kern county, who got shot through the shoulder by so doing.

Dr. Ely has a little sorrel mare, raised in Sonoma County, that is thirty-three years old, which he drove from Windsor to Healdsburg, a distance of six miles, the other day, in twenty minutes.

A daughter of David Gove, of Windsor, while fording the river at the Curtis ford, on the road to Healdsburg, a few days ago, got into the quicksand and was rescued with difficulty. The horse was drowned.

The dead body of a horse, with harness attached, was washed from the river a few miles below Red Bluff, the other day. It is supposed to be one of a stage team recently drowned in the upper part of the county.

A teamster encamped near Arroyo Grande, San Louis Obispo County, was visited by a man with a revolver the other night, who compelled him to deliver his purse, containing $43, and got safely away with the coin.

Black's cannery at Martinez is putting up from 500 to 1,000 salmon daily, and the large new establishment at Benicia is about commencing operations. Not far from a hundred boats are now employed in the Straits fisheries.

A survey is being made for an extension of the San Luis Obispo Railroad to Santa Barbara. One route from Los Alamos to Gaviota has been examined, and the engineer is now exploring the ascent from the northern side of the San Marcos Pass.

A farmer from Sutter Station, Sutter county, says that the water in the tules is higher at that point than it was at any time during the winter. The farmers are throwing up levees to keep the water out of their fields along the edge of the tules.

The Lakeport Bee-Democrat makes itself personally responsible for the statement that a cat near that town recently "gave birth to four kittens, two of which are perfectly formed rabbits, except, perhaps, that the feet are more like a cat's than a rabbit's."

What has been known as the Garcia ranch, near Cucamonga, which was purchased some time since by the Chaffey brothers, has been surveyed and divided into suitable tracts, and will shortly be ready for the market. The locality will be called Etiwana.

The Central Pacific Railroad Company is setting out locust trees on the depot grounds at Pleasonton and Livermore. The trees are large, being ten feet in height, and will, therefore, soon make a dense shade. Five hundred trees will soon be planted at each town.

About 150 men are at work on the railroad extension from Willows to Tehama. The work of grading will be pushed forward as rapidly as possible, so that the rolling stock may be in readiness next fall to receive and move the next wheat crop from along the line of the road.

Two trains of the Southern Pacific Railroad collided on the Tehachepa Mountain on Wednesday morning, says the Bakersfield Record, completely demolishing the engines and wrecking sixteen cars. It is stated that so complete is the wreck that no attempt will be made to save anything, but the whole will be set on fire and burned, No one was injured

Two drunks from the laborers employed on the Stanford irrigating ditch were locked up in Vina the other day, and a few nights later a large mob from the ditch came into town, and had things pretty much their own way for some time. They became boisterous and threatened to burn the little calaboose and run the town at the first opportunity, and many who are attending the trial now pending in the Superior Court fear they will carry out their evil intentions during their absence.

No Gentleman.

During the recent snow-storm, says the Tuscarora Times-Review, an elegantly dressed lady of magnificent proportions slipped and fell sprawling on the sidewalk, spread eagle style. A gentleman standing near made no effort to assist her. Regaining her perpendicular she walked to where he stood, her eyes flashing fire. "I have seen enough of you," she said, "to know that you are no gentleman." "And I have seen enough of you to know that you are no gentleman." The expression on the lady's face as she walked hurriedly up street was a puzzle.
